

A carer's guide to Learning for Living

Make your experience count

A carer's guide to Learning for Living

Nearly six million people in the UK including over 660,000 people in Scotland, look after a family member, partner or friend who cannot manage because they are ill, frail or have a disability. The number of unpaid carers is expected to increase by 60% reaching over 1 million by 2037, yet surveys show that carers' needs including the right resources to support their caring role are only being partially met.

These needs range from a requirement for better services and effective information to support them in their caring role, through to emotional support and a say in service planning and provision. As well as ensuring the wellbeing of the person receiving care, carers should also have the freedom to lead lives of their own and develop their skills.

City & Guilds in partnership with Carers Scotland, has developed a personal development and learning tool for carers called Learning for Living. Learning for Living consists of online learning resources for carers and a qualification.

The Certificate in Personal Development and Learning for Unpaid Carers aims to give you the confidence and support you may need to achieve your personal goals. This is the first qualification of its kind specifically designed to help unpaid carers back into paid employment or on to further training.

The Certificate is supported by Learning for Living.

What's the Certificate all about?

The Certificate is designed to:

- Support your personal development by developing your knowledge and skills relevant to your needs.
- Help you draw up further plans for your education, training, employment or leisure.
- Provide a nationally recognised qualification that will help boost confidence and return to the workplace.

Who can benefit?

The Certificate is aimed at adults who have been, or are currently, unpaid carers.

What equipment will be needed?

Learners will require only very basic computer skills, such as using a mouse and typing small amounts of text. Support will be available from a local college or carers centre.

Access to a multimedia PC with a modem to get onto the internet will be required if the Learning for Living resource is being used to deliver the qualification. However, this can be made available through approved centres.

What does the Certificate involve?

There are four units in the programme, each of which has four component topics:

Unit 1: Personal Development Planning for Carers

- Return to Learn - improving your learning skills
- Tuning in - communicating well
- Standing firm - developing assertiveness
- Shaping your future - putting your skills to use

Unit 2: The Needs of the Carer

- Keeping healthy
- Managing life's 'ups and downs'
- You in the caring role - sharing responsibilities
- Enjoying Life

Unit 3: Influences on and Impact of the Caring Role

- Welcoming difference
- Understanding relationships
- Why do we do the things we do?
- Living with loss

Unit 4: The Carer as Manager

- Safety matters
- Managing money
- Understanding and influencing care services
- What next?

How do I find out more?

To find out more about the Certificate, please contact :

Carers Scotland contact details:

T: 0141 221 9141

E: learning-for-living@carerscotland.org

W: www.carerscotland.org

City & Guilds contact details:

T: 0207 294 8217

E: carers@city-and-guilds.co.uk

W: www.learning-for-living.co.uk

Key points

- The first qualification of its kind in Europe aimed at unpaid carers
- Unique tailored online content specifically designed to support carers in their everyday role
- Helps develop the whole person from current skills, knowledge, self-confidence and basic computer skills
- Offers recognition and reward for unpaid carers using a flexible approach

Every effort has been made to ensure that the information contained in this publication is true and correct at the time of going to press. However, City & Guilds' products and services are subject to continuous development and improvement and the right is reserved to change products and services from time to time.

City & Guilds cannot accept liability for loss or damage arising from the use of information in this publication.

©2004 The City and Guilds of London Institute. All rights reserved.

City & Guilds is a trademark of the City and Guilds of London Institute.

City & Guilds is a registered charity (number 312832) established to promote education and training.

1 Giltspur Street, London EC1A 9DD Telephone 020 7294 2468. Facsimile 020 7294 2400 E-mail enquiry@city-and-guilds.co.uk.

Website <http://www.city-and-guilds.co.uk>